

Welcome to Miri!

Miri is also known as the Oil Town due to its history in oil industry. It started off as a fishing village, which over the years continue to grow due to its oil and timber industry. It was granted city status on 13th May 2005.

This beautiful city is situated at the North part of Sarawak. It has beaches with mesmerizing sunset, diving sites with abundance of pristine patch reefs, and Mulu National Park - the largest cave chamber in the world.

For Jazz lovers, don't miss the annual Borneo Jazz Festival which takes place at the seaside featuring a vast repertoire of Jazz genres.

Welcome to discover the beauty of Miri!

Background

NECIC (National Early Childhood Intervention Council) was set up in 2011 to advocate on early childhood intervention matters arising from the conferences and also provide a voice on current issues. It works in collaborative effort with local organizers of the hosting state to carry out the National Conference. A conference is held once every 2 years and the it is the eighth conference for the year 2020. Further details on NECIC are available on www.necicmalaysia.org.

Sunflower Centre is a charitable non-governmental organisation (NGO) under the umbrella of Red Crescent (MRC), Miri Chapter, established since 1982. It caters to children and young adults with special needs, to provide aids to special needs children and their families, and to educate the public to appreciate and understand people with special needs. Training and activities are provided to assist them to blend into the society and enable them to make positive contributions to the society.
